

The Face of Interior Design

2025 Faces December 1, 2025 by Hello

Jessica Love, Founder & Principal Designer

Welcome to Urbane Design

For more than two decades, Jessica Love has shaped Austin's interiors with intention, empathy, and artistry. A graduate of Sam Houston State University with a B.S. in Interior Design, Jessica designs for people, not trends—celebrating individuality in every project.

Her Austin-based studio creates timeless, functional, and soulful spaces that reflect each client's story. From modern renovations to full-scale builds, Jessica and her team bring warmth and purpose to homes, including community-focused environments like Stardust Ranch, where design supports connection and everyday well-being.

Jessica is also committed to making the Austin community better. Her work extends into the community through several nonprofits such as Big Brothers Big Sisters, Ten Thousand Villages, and Austin Habitat for Humanity. She is additionally the founder of Design Changes Lives, an independent 501(c) (3) dedicated to providing transformative design services for children and families in need.

Rooted in Austin's creative spirit, Jessica continues to inspire clients and community alike through spaces that embody authenticity, heart, and meaningful impact.
